WHAT IS BUYING OFF PLAN?

Whether you're buying you're first home, downsizing or moving up the ladder, it can be beneficial to buy a home off plan.

Buying off plan means reserving and purchasing a home before it is built.

The purchase is based on floor plans, CGI images, drawings and detailed specification set out by the developer. You may also be able to view a show home on site.

This will help you to see the design, style and build quality.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF BUYING OFF PLAN?

Advantages may include:

- The opportunity to be the first owner of your home.
- Time to prepare your finances and prepare your move.
- The ability to customise certain aspects of your new home, subject to the build stage and the housebuilder.
- As the property is purchased directly from the housebuilder, there is no onward chain to navigate.
- Buying early may mean there are more properties to choose from.

Stronghold has an incredible reputation for working with our buyers to help personalise their home. We understand how those individual touches can help make your home your own. When buying early, depending on build stage and availability, you'll likely have the opportunity to customise your home from select options, ready for move in.

Speak to our sales team to learn more about buying off-plan.
